

“The Responsibility of the Present Generations
for the Protection of Women’s Human Rights”

17th Annual Conference on Women and Gender
Saturday, April 2, 2005
8:30 AM – 6:00 PM
University of Connecticut, Storrs

Panels including:

Sex Trafficking in Nepal
Women’s Reproductive Rights
Student Activism
Feminist / Human Rights Pedagogy

Feminist Generations
Readings from “V-Day”
Politicizing the Breast
Environmental Rights

Keynote Address by Dr. Marjorie Agosin, Professor of Spanish at Wellesley College and recipient of numerous Human Rights Awards including the Good Neighbor Award given by the Conference of Christians and Jews and the Jeanette Rankin Award in 1995. Dr. Agosin has also received two prestigious prizes given to Latino writers: the Letras de Oro prize and the Latino Literature Prize for two collections of poetry.

REGISTRATION: $10.00 for students, $20.00 all others

Pre-Registration by March 18 includes Lunch and Closing Reception
Registrations taken at the door will not include Lunch and Closing Reception

All checks must be made payable to: UConn Women’s Studies Conference Fund

Lunch and Closing Reception are included only for those who pre-register.

Your registration is not considered complete until the registration fee is paid.

Please send registration fee with your name, title and affiliation (if applicable) and email address to:

UConn Women’s Studies 2005 Conference,
354 Mansfield Road, Unit 2181, Storrs, CT 06269-2181.

If you have any questions, please contact Barbara Gurr, Conference Coordinator, at 860-486-1131 or via email, Barbara.gurr@uconn.edu

For more information, including directions and parking information, please visit our website:
Http://www.sp.uconn.edu/womstu4/home.html