

University of Connecticut

Intersections of Interdisciplinarity

An Interdisciplinary Symposium Sponsored by the Women's Studies Program and Asian American, African American, and Puerto Rican and Latino/a Studies Institutes

Featured Speakers

Dr. Michele Tracy Berger,
University of North Carolina
Dr. Leslie Bow, University of Wisconsin—Madison
Dr. Kandice Chuh, CUNY
Dr. Ange-Marie Hancock, University of Southern California
Dr. Nelson Maldonado-Torres, Rutgers University
Dr. Vivian May, Syracuse University
Dr. Banu Subramaniam, University of Massachusetts—Amherst
Dr. Silvio Torres-Saillant, Syracuse University

3/31/2012

Three key topics will be considered during this day-long symposium:

- What constitutes effective interdisciplinary, intersectional scholarship? How does it function as a mode of activism, a theoretical perspective, or a type of engaged pedagogy?
- How can scholars begin the process of creating interdisciplinary intellectual relationships that lead to interdisciplinary research? What are the nuts and bolts of this process?
- How do interdisciplinary and intersectional practices or types of scholarship developed in one academic site “travel” to other sites or spheres of influence?

Student Union 304
2110 Hillside Road
Storrs, CT 06269
9:00 am—5:00 pm

Please register by March 15, 2012

For more information or to register for this event, please contact Coleen Spurlock at wsinfo@uconn.edu or 860-486-3970

Cosponsored by the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and the Humanities Institute at the University of Connecticut